

Scotch-Brite™

Surface Conditioning Products

The new generation of cleaning and finishing products for the metal industry

3M Innovation

Multiple benefits for your business

Scotch-Brite™ cleaning and finishing products are the market leader for the metal working industry. With the benefit of 3M research and development, and with our extensive knowledge of market requirements, we have developed products that bring added value to your business.

Saving time

The new range of Scotch-Brite non-woven cleaning and finishing products has been designed to give more aggression, last longer, and produce a better finish when compared to other non-woven products, resulting in a faster process and quicker product throughput. Moving quickly from one operation to the next can be the key to cutting costs, and Scotch-Brite surface conditioning products will help you do just that.

More aggression

Saving money

Scotch-Brite non-woven products come in a range of formats, from pre-cut pads to rolls; you simply choose the right size for your application, and you reduce waste. Not only that, improved webs allow

Heavy duty

Scotch-Brite products to work longer, harder, and more efficiently. With Scotch-Brite Surface Conditioning Products the difference is obvious.

Easy to use

Scotch-Brite hand pads are now sized 115mm x150mm in order to be more convenient and economic. They come in exactly the right size for hand applications. As with all 3M products, we put just as much thought into the packaging, because we understand the demands of modern manufacturing. So we have developed

Higher quality results

the new range of Scotch-Brite hand pads in fine grades, which are available in perforated hand pads on a roll – simple to detach without removing the packaging. Result? Easier and quicker to use, all stored together in one place, and protected from damage from the first pad to the last.

You put a lot of effort into producing a product of the highest quality. To compromise this by using poor quality finishing products would be to throw all this effort away. The finish you get with

This gives you uniformity of finish over the whole surface, and conformity of finish from one item to the next

In a word – consistency. The very consistency your business needs.

More flexibility

Better consistency

Scotch-Brite Surface Conditioning Products is not only of higher quality, but due to the flexibility and density of the pads, they get into every corner, every contour.

Pre-cut pads

A product for each application

As well as being available in different grades, Scotch-Brite™ Surface Conditioning Products are produced in different qualities to make sure you can select exactly the right product for your application.

Scotch-Brite™ Pre-cut pads

Designed for hand application, and with good flexibility. In pre-sized, perforated hand pads on rolls, they offer high aggressiveness, sharper, controllable cutting and scuffing, and uniform finish over the whole product or component.
